M.I.A.

Megan Vollstedt

My voice crawls away,

escapes barricades of words to a safety of silence.

It squeaks by,

bombarded

with questions and orders.

It waves its white flag before echoes of conversations, like gunshots in the air.

Hides behind

loaded expressions,

sneaking out

only as a whisper

before it disappears,

buried in trenches of insecurities.

Megan Vollstedt is a junior in Literature. She is pursuing a practical means for achieving her dreams.
